Make-Up Meeting For Local Lions

The Appomattox Lions Club will have a make-up meeting today at 12 noon at Maudes Restaurant.

Bus Drivers Hear Safety Engineer

Appomattox County school bus drivers and substitute drivers attended a meeting here Friday, Dec. 6. This is an annual meeting called by school officials to discuss changes in regulations regarding the operation of buses and to emphasize safe operation.

The drivers were commended on their safe driving record by the superintendent of schools and transportation supervisor. Mr. Earl Pearson, safety engineer of Nationwide Insurance Company, presented a film dealing with the responsibility of a driver in the prevention of loss of life and property. Sgt. G. M. Morris, Jr., of the Department of State Police, discussed the legal requirements of school bus operation and some of the common infractions that needed to be considered. Mr. R. A. Bynum, Assistant State Department of Education, discussed various regulations of the State Board of Education which needed clarification.

In addition to safety regulation supervisor. He brought out the fact that preventative maintenance would do much to aid economy of operation, and that the first responsibility for a safe bus lay with the driver.

In addition to attendance at this local meeting, schoop bus drivers, prior to operating a bus are required to take a physical examination, their driving record must be cleared through the Division of Motor Vehicles, and they must be recommended by two people in the community.

Regular drivers in attendance at the meeting were: Francis P. O'Brien, C. V. Mann, Gordon Tucker, Paul Burge ,AL Walker Johnson, Walter Watson, H. C. Moore, T. C. Pankey, Sr., Gordon Bragg, T. R .Deane', David Trent, Bennie Walker, Wayne Tuck, William Thornton, Eugene Moorman, John Harvey, John A. Hudson, Jr. Walter Williams, John A. Mann, Jr., Tommie Turner, John Humbles, Curtis Morgan, B. C. Rogers, Joe Mayberry and Joe Goin.

Jaycees To Sponsor Shopping Tour

Approximately 40 elementary school pupils of the county will go on a gala shopping tour Wednesday, December 18. The annual event which includes supper and entertainment for the young shoppers is a project of Appomattox Jaycees.

Beginning right after school on Wednesday, the boys and girls will be taken to Appomattox Elementary School for entertainment and supper. Then, armed with "ready cash" and the guidance of Jaycees and their wives, the youngsters will tour Appomattox buying gifts for their families and themselves. Following this, they will return to the school where Jaycees' wives will assist in wrapping the gifts and escorting them home.

Jaycees Bruc Kroog and Walter Carson are co-chairmen for the Shopping Tour. Jaycee Bob Montgomery said, "This is the most rewarding project of the year." Proceeds from the Country Music Show plus supplementary funds from other projects are used to finance the tour, supper, and additional treats supplied to the children.

Carol "Sing" Planned By Baptist Assoc.

On Wednesday, December 18 at 7:30 a Carol Sing will be held by the Appomattox Baptist Association at Brookneal Baptist Church. Various choirs of the Association will sing numbers plus congregational singing of familiar Christmas carols and hymns. Associational Music Director, Reverend Thomas A. Waddill, says that everyone is urged to attend.

TB Association Officials Meet

Preplanning session for Evaluation Guide at Virginia Tuberculosis Association in Richmond. Mrs. Emma G. Anthony, Executive Director, Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Health Association; W. W. Students Erect Highway Safety Display

Distributive education students of Appomattox High plan to display the wrecked car and sign shown above during most of this holiday season. First posted near the intersection of Routes 24, 26, and 460 over the Thanksgiving holidays, the display may be moved to another location for even better viewing for the Christmas holidays, say the young people. As a paraphrase of "Slow Down and Live," the DE students have printed "Speed Up — Cemetery Lots for Sale." They included visual proof of their contention that "drivers shouldn't drink." Moses Motor Co., McKenna Co., Inc., and J. E. Jamerson & Son, Inc., assisted with the project. Shown with the display are, left to right, Cecil Jamerson, Linda Phelps, Ronnie Spiggle, Paul Franklin, Gail Webb, Myrtle Christian, and Newton Talley. Club advisor is Bob Montgomery, DE instructor at AHS.

Santa Claus Coming Tonight Band, Twirlers March At 7 P. M.

Santa Claus is coming tonight to Appamattox! Santa will come down Main Street at 7 p.m. in a gay parade made bright with the music of the Appomattox High School band and flashing batons of the AHS majorettes. Lina's Twirlers will also march on the way to an 'open house' at Marshall's Department Store. Old Santa and all his little friends will hear several selections by the band before Santa settles down to hear all the Christmas wishes of the boys and girls.

Evening Shopping Hours

Many of the stores in Appomattox will be open Friday and Saturday evenings, December 13, 14. And most merchants plan to remain open the evenings of December 16-21, Monday through Saturday.

All over town there are signs of the season as holiday wreaths, gay decorations and lighted trees are being added daily to give Appomattox a festive appearance.

Making Ready For Holidays

Appomattox is ready to welcome many visitors and relatives who will spend the Christmas holiday here. The town and stores are decorated and most stores are remaining open late to serve the last minute shoppers. The church choirs are preparing for holiday programs. Colorful street lights went up on Monday to light up Main Street for holiday cheer.

Rev. Jack D. Adams Narrates Cantata

The Reverend Jack D. Adams, Jr., deacon - in - charge, St. Anns Episcopal Church, Appomattox, was narrator for the cantata, "The Christmas Story" by Heinrich Schoetz. The cantata was part of a program of sacred music presented by members of various Farmville church choirs at St. Johns Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8.

Appomattox Garden Club Will Present "Holiday House" Dec. 26

The Appomattox Garden Club will present "Holiday House", the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Janatka, which will be opened to the public December 26th. from 3 to 5 p.m. & 8 to 9 p.m. The home is being decorated by the Garden Club members in the traditional Christmas motif of 100 years ago . . . member will act as hostesses and preside at the punch bowl during the afternoon and evening.

Tickets can be purchased from Garden Club members and at the "Holiday House" that afternoon and evening.

"Redfields" Site of History

"Redfields", home of the Janatkas, ranks next to the McLean "Surrender House" in the annals of Appomattox. It was here that Federal officers made their headquarters when Lee's Army surrendered 98 years ago to Grant. The home a sturdy dwelling house, was built about 1820 by George Abbett. Mrs. Janatka's great - great - grandfather.

Major Generals Philip Henry Sheridan and George Armstrong Custer were the unwelcome guests of the loyal Southern owners.

The Janatkas have christened their home "Red Fields" because of the fallow farmland.

Handsome English boxwood lines the walk to the house. A great tree - box and an old mossrose bush at the front of Redfields were planted there about 100 years ago by a young girl, a member of the family from a bouquet given her by her soldier-sweetheart when he left with Confederate States Army troops early in the War Between the States.

Sabin Vaccine Make-Up Clinic Here Today, Friday, Saturday

In spite of cold weather and rain throughout the county on Sunday, more than 60 per cent of Appomattox county's population turned out to receive Type I, Sabin Oral vaccine. A make-up clinic is being held today (Thursday), Friday, and Saturday at the county health clinic in Appomattox, to accommodate every man, woman, and child over the age of six weeks, who failed to get his vaccine Sunday.

Hours for the make-up clinic are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday. Dr. Clements said there is only a limited supply of the vaccine, but urged full participation by all who have not received Type I vaccine.

High Percentage Vaccinated

Local physicians and county health officials report that 5,763 persons were vaccinated Sunday. This means, they say that at least 63 per cent of the county's citizens have received Type I. Although out-of -county residents are included in Sunday's figures, they base their percentage on the fact that a number of residents had previously received Type I vaccine in clinics in other counties.

According to ages, the following received the vaccine. Under one year of age — 109. Ages 1-5 — 649. 6X to 14 — 1,186. Fifteen to 39 — 2,660. Forty and over, 1,749. Dr. E. H. Hancock, Jr., chairman of the Area Campaign of which Appomattox was a part, said that he feels the bad weather had something to do with the fact that a fairly low percentage of infants under the age of one year received the vaccine.

Health Dept. To Keep Record

The county health department in Appomattox is making plans for the permanent records of those vaccinated.

Local physicians had high praise for the conduct of the three clinics. Dr. Clyde G. O'Brien said after the clinic had been underway for three hours, "This clinic is running as smoothly as if we had been running them for years."

Dr. A. A. Prentice said the turnout was 'gratifying —especially in consideration of the weather.' And Dr. J. A. Mathews said, 'Our local people are capable of doing anything if they want to do it.'

State police helped with traffic, as did local officers. Citizens Band radio provided contact between clinics. Lions clubs gave much credit to nurses, the Rescue Squad, bookkeepers other civic clubs, those involved in communication, and everyone else who helped during the day; and those who helped give the vaccination project wide publicity.

Next regular SOS clinic is planned for January 19 at which time Type II Sabin Oral vaccine will be given.
